

AN ENCORE LEARNING SPECIAL EVENT

Tour NPR Headquarters:

Newsroom, Production Studios, Interactive Exhibits

Wednesday 11/9/2016

10 to 11:00 AM

Registration required; this event is free to Encore Learning members. This event is limited to 20 Encore Learning members.

The NPR Headquarters tour on the day after the election will take participants through the 55,000 square foot newsroom and modern production studios for D.C.-produced shows such as All Things Considered and Morning Edition. This guided, hour-long tour will include a discussion of the history and mission of NPR, as well as a glimpse of daily life in a two-story, digitalized radio production and transmission environment, and more.

NPR Headquarters is located at 1111 N. Capital Street, NE, Washington, D.C. There is a public parking lot (fee based) located across the street. The closest Metro stop is Union Station or NOMA -Gallaudet on the Red Line.

Starting at 9:45 a.m., go through an NPR security check to enter the building. While the NPR headquarters are ADA accessible, participants are advised the tour requires significant walking.

A waitlist will be maintained and all registrants will be contacted by Encore Learning via phone or email at least one week prior to the event.